

“No business objective is so important that it will be pursued at the sacrifice of safety.”

Chris Moulden, Senior Vice President of Environment, Health, Safety (EHS) is responsible for shaping and executing company-wide safety strategy, driving risk management and incident reduction, ensuring regulatory compliance, and fostering a culture of safety through training and continuous improvement.

➔ OUR COMMITMENT

We are deeply committed to the “AMERIT Means Safety” principles in everything we do. Safety is the foundation of our culture, guiding our decisions and operations every day. We uphold the highest standards of safety, excellence, and integrity to protect our people and the clients we serve. We are dedicated to leveraging unmatched expertise to ensure safe, reliable, and responsible operations.

- With updated safety procedures and a restructured leadership team, Amerit's safety-first culture is driven from the top down. All employees, regardless of role, are required to complete safety training, and our teams are rewarded through bonus incentives for maintaining exemplary safety performance.

“GREAT TEAM EFFORT TO IMPROVE ON SAFETY. THANK YOU!” - FLEET MANAGER

At Amerit, safety is who we are. We believe that operational excellence starts with a safe, aware, and engaged team.

Our culture is built on six guiding principles:

A

AWARENESS

Every task starts with a moment of observation and risk assessment.

M

MITIGATION

We proactively identify risks and implement controls to reduce or eliminate them.

E

ENGAGEMENT

Team members are empowered and expected to speak up, share ideas, and contribute to a safer workplace.

R

RESPONSIBILITY

We take personal responsibility for our actions and the safety of those around us.

I

INTEGRITY

Transparency, honesty, and accountability are non-negotiable in our commitment safety.

TRAINING

We invest in continuous learning and development, making training an investment in safety excellence.
